Resident, Ken Moonitz, spoke about adding speed bumps to the District. It is a reoccurring topic of discussion at previous CECSO Board meetings. Ken referred to the CalTrans website, where there is a lot of information about traffic calming devices. Karen Moonitz, commented that the road committee should do the research and cost analysis of the topic prior to the Board meeting.

The first issue is to determine where to put the traffic calming device. Ideally, the road would be straight for approximately 300 feet for visibility. Since our streets are mostly curvy, this may be problematic.

Next, a traffic engineer should be hired to do a study of the specific needs for the specific streets. This study includes speed measurements in the desired location, traffic counts at the site, accidents at the location, and possible decreased response time for emergency evacuations.

The Fire Department may need to be involved for tire spacing within the traffic calming device to allow fire trucks to bypass the bump or hump.

In addition to the site placement and type of traffic calming device, the insurance company may need to be involved as insurance rates may increase due to increased liability. Our insurance company, SDRMA, warned the District not to put in the speed bumps because we may incur liability.

A lawyer will also need to be involved to give the District an opinion about the traffic calming device as it may increase of liability. At this point, Ken Moonitz, stated that these issues are why in previous Board meetings, the District decided that the cost and increased liability were too great to add a traffic calming device.

During Public Comment, residents thought adding limit lines or new stop signs might slow down drivers. The addition of new stop signs will be added as an item to the November Board meeting Agenda for further discussion.
